PRESS RELEASE

ZOOOOO!

A children's show for grown-ups too.

Sunday 17th July 17 to Sunday 18th September 2022

The Gallery of Everything is proud to present its long-awaited summer show: a contemporary bestiary of living creatures, from the tiny to the oversized, the beautiful to the strange.

ZOOOOO! offers an additional twist: for it is the first show in an independent London art gallery catering for the curious (and not so curious) under the age of 12.

ZOOOOO! features over 50 different artists, each of whom practices beyond the mainstream art world. Many have been celebrated by, or are drawn from, the archive of the gallery's parent project, The Museum of Everything.

Notable inclusions are world-famous practitioners like Bill Traylor, William Hawkins and Nek Chand Saini. Other names are sourced from the chronicles of art's minor makers. There are anonymous authors from the 18th century to the today. All are represented by a painting or object, be it an animal, fish, insect, bird, vertebrate or invertebrate.

Conceived and curated by The Gallery of Everything with former editor of Tate Etc. magazine Simon Grant, ZOOOOO! is as inspired by the paucity of child-friendly art exhibits, as it is by artists and curators captivated by the child's eye view.

ZOOOOO! appeals as much to the older generation as to the younger. There are paintings, drawings, sculptures, performance, things to touch and things to do. As the title suggests, the theme is as flexible, literal, abstract and diverse as its practitioners, its aim, to encourage children of all ages to see, consider and critique.

Plus, there are lots of excellent and affordable things to buy. For details and sales, please contact The Gallery of Everything.
